Hello, not sure where you are getting your facts from but our service hasn't launched any attacks against either of those IP's, also your threats of legal action are meaningless, we operate a perfectly legal business and don't violate any laws.

You also didn't 'trace' anything back to us, if you understood how DrDoS amplification works you'd know it's impossible to be traced, I'm guessing some kid is bragging about taking down your server and you believe he is using our service but I can confirm no attacks were launched against your network, if you have anymore questions feel free to reply.

Regards,

Vincenzi Negro.

counsel in discovery.

Usatyuk: i dont think they'll care about much else
Usatyuk: and see ur name in the logs field
Usatyuk: if they get the db
Usatyuk: but the fact is Usatyuk: yeh
[Co-Conspirator A]: then it is in the us
[Co-Conspirator A]: its a lot easier for them to get the subpoena in the uk
Usatyuk: not even against the tog or anything
Usatyuk: im removing any of my personal logs
Usatyuk: to fucking get rid of all evidence right now
Usatyuk: thats literally telling everyone
[Co-Conspirator A]: 101
Usatyuk: did they actually publish that lol.
Usatyuk: Police were able to nail [arrested administrator] thanks in part to his keeping of DDoS attack logs.

Hello, the website: [Name of Service] is hosted by you, and this website is hosting illegal / malicious content.

This website is a "booter", or a DDoS for hire tool responsible for sending hundreds of illegal distributed denial of service attacks on a daily basis.

Please note that you yourself will not see any DDoS traffic originating from this website, this website uses offshore servers located in the [Foreign Country] to send the actual DDoS attacks, however the website is a tool that makes these offshore servers launch the actual DDoS, thus still violating the law.

I hope action can be taken quickly, if you have any questions feel free to reply to me,

Brian M.
